

Dirty tar sands oil bi-products of Alberta, Canada, used for global pollution and mass destruction

The observable Universe from Earth contains billions of galaxies each one with billions of stars. There is a Soul in every part of the Universe. The one goal common to all Souls is to guide the matter of the Universe towards the creation of Life. Life is the way I have chosen to communicate with you, and you with me.

The Soul of Humanity is helping to bring about the event of Peace in the world. This way Earth management becomes a spiritual and a natural process whereby each person is responsible and accountable for its management the best they can. Peace in the world and Earth management has for far too long been in the hands of a few people on the planet, the 1%, as opposed to being in the hands of all Peoples working to keep our planet healthy. There will be a time when enough people will be able to think together very strongly and positively about life, and then Guiding Souls will make it possible for them to acquire the knowledge and expertise to travel the distances of the Universe and propagate life in all its forms. At the moment, civilizations on Earth are not ready for the exploration of the Universe. Too many wars and civil unrests in the world. People on Earth need to learn to live in symbiosis with one another and with the Soul of Humanity.

I am Soullife, God's Spirit. Let us have a close look at Earth management and global governance.

Geopolitical boundaries will not protect life on Earth. Pollution is global and already in rivers, lakes and oceans, and in the air people breathe thus creating the global warming of the planet, and on the land making it hard to find a healthy soil for food production.

Politicians were not educated to think globally except when there is money they can grab. Obviously money does not and will not resolve the problems of the global life support systems humanity is facing as a whole. Everyone on the planet needs to participate and take responsibility and take proper action to protect life.

Pollution is not the only result of bad governance and the erratic management of Earth. At the source of it all is the energy sector of the planet. What is fuelling these bad human behaviors is oil and coal and the wealth the fossil fuel and bi-products bring to the CEOs and shareholders.

What we need to understand is that pollution is not just destroying the global life support systems but it is the use of the bi-products from the refining of the oil that truly causes destruction on a global scale. The tar sands oil is a very special type of heavy oil from which bi-products can be manufactured for the only purpose of war.

The dirty tar sands oil is fuelling war machines, the war industry and the military. It is a living insanity. The abundance of oil has so far propelled governments, especially the United States and Great Britain governments, to manufacture astronomically high number of war products. Oil by-products are used to make the war machine more polluting and destructive worldwide. Ever since WWII, the U.S.A. war machine has been at work, each time very destructive and genocidal : Korea, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, Lebanon, Dominican Republic, Panama, Grenada, Iraq, Libya etc. and killing now in Afghanistan, Pakistan, Somalia, and Yemen. Yet, the International Court of Justice, the primary judicial organ of the United Nations, has never made an arrest of a President of the United States for crimes against humanity. It just seems that the Court is biased or run by the US.

In every part of society anywhere in the world, if a business produces food with contaminants, cigarettes causing cancer, pharmaceutical drugs not doing what it is meant to be doing, cars with defects causing accidents, chicken or lettuce with the E Coli Virus, etc., then the business and its owners will be stopped and prosecuted. In many countries business people found responsible for such problems may be hanged. Now when it comes to the dirty tar sands oil, which we know is polluting globally and its by-products used for mass destruction of entire communities in the world, it sure comes to mind that the CEOs and shareholders should be prosecuted for their crimes against humanity. They are selfish opportunists with no human values. They promote war and conflicts, civil unrests worldwide, just to make more money.

The world needs a better global organization for all Peoples.

Let us stop the production of the dirty tar sands oil and that will bring to a stop the war machine worldwide.

Let us stop the pollution and destruction brought forward by the dirty tar sands oil of Alberta.

Let us create a global ministry for energy.

The world is in a perpetual state of crisis of one kind or another: economic, civil unrest, unemployment, poverty, political, rights and Justice, and environmental.

Often, leaders who brought solutions forward have an agenda of their own as they represent specific interest groups. Instead of finding a solution through diplomacy they would rather force an entire population back to stone age which truly means the killing of people through bombing and the destruction of community infrastructures and homes. Evil permeates human tragedy.

There is a multitude of diverse Earth resources being taken from the ground and water, carried away for processing, manufacturing, packaging, or used in some form or another by consumers, and by commercial and industrial facilities.

Because of the limited quantities of Earth resources to be made available for this generation and the next ones, and because of environmental, climate change, and world population concerns, there is a need to manage the entire process from beginning to end, from the exploration stage to the consumer.

A Global Ministry is needed to look after the management of Earth resources at all stages: exploration, production, transportation, manufacturing and distribution.

The formation of global ministries is the most important event in human history.

Humanity sees the need to manage world affairs in several aspects of people lives, and the energy sector is certainly the most important.

Global ministries will be given power to rule themselves in harmony with each other.

The Global Community has been promoting the formation of several global ministries for the proper governance of Earth. The Global Community has proposed a democracy for the people based on the fact that land, water, forests, oil & gas, minerals, the atmosphere, the electro-magnetic spectrum, space, including satellite orbits and other natural resources rightly belong to the Global Community as a birthright, and they are for sharing as per the Scale of Global Rights. The Earth is the birthright of all life on the planet.

Global ministries are world wide organizations just like the World Trade Organization (WTO) for trade and therefore should have the same power to rule on cases.

Earth is covered by pollution and waste from human activities such as:

1. overconsumption
2. unfair and out-of-control global economics
3. wasteful lifestyles in developed nations
4. overpopulation
5. mindless and out-of-control destruction worldwide caused by the military and its armament industry
6. mindless people activities leading to more pollution, destruction of the planet and annihilation of a large number of life species.

All aspects are inter-related and affect one another. A healthy environment is essential to long term prosperity and well-being of Global Community citizens. That demands a high level of ecological protection. This is the 'raison d'etre' of the Scale of Global Rights.

The Scale of Global Rights gives us a sense of direction for future planning and managing of the Earth. Earth management is now well defined and becomes a goal to achieve. We no longer waste energy and resources in things that are absolutely unimportant. So it has become a necessity to establish the Earth Resources Ministry that will be assessing, compiling, managing, protecting and distributing Earth resources, and the Earth Court of Justice prosecuting cases involving crimes related to the relentless misused of the Earth resources.

The World Bank and the IMF use the dollar to gain control of governments worldwide. These institutions are mostly owned by the USA government itself managing a bankrupt economy and an out-of control annual deficit. So how can the world let the White House manage the world economic affairs?!?! The White House cannot even manage its own economy and deficit. America is not sustainable. Yet America wishes to show the world to be sustainable?!?!

The G8/G20 leaders are proposing the creation of a new global financial system or new Bretton Woods. The aim must be to overhaul capitalism, not by questioning the idea of a market economy but observing certain principles. If world leaders, the few elites, the 1%, have their way again, the world will have some sort of expanded WTO, NAFTA, or G8/G20 nations with an unlimited power over the economies of the world. A world anti-government! No less! If we believe the EU and G8/G20 leaders, the world will become a large casino playground with principles. NATO will be asked to protect such a system. A new world order! Earth governance at its worst! Money is all that counts! It was deregulation that led to the huge growth of this casino-type banking system.

It is the G8/G20 nations continued attempt to restore failing banks and other G8 nations greedy corporations and institutions that brought down the global economy. The global economy can be affected by the deregulation in the movement of capital and thus by speculation. Money is made off tiny fluctuations in the relative prices of currencies. Speculation makes it possible for huge amounts of money to be transferred half-way around the world in a matter of seconds. Whereas world trade associated with actual goods and services is estimated at 7 trillion dollars a year, speculation is estimated at 1.5 trillion dollar a day. If a country's economy starts to slow, billions of dollars can be transferred out of the country instantaneously, which can significantly affect its economy and the people. So speculation can exert tremendous pressure on the internal politics of a country and should be de-institutionalized. It can bankrupt a country's economy. Humanity has no real need for speculation, and it does way more damage than good. Speculation is a form of gambling and is evil.

Global Parliament was originally researched and developed by the Global Community and is the only way for the world to guarantee essential services and protection to every home.

Global Parliament is made of the:

- House of Elected Representatives
- The House of Advisers
- The Earth Executive Council, and the
- Federation of Global Governments.

The Peoples of the Global Community elect, nominate or appoint their representatives to Global Parliament. The Federation of Global Governments represents the nations of the world and serve all people.

A working Global Parliament Constitution is the only way for us all to guarantee essential services, Justice, and protection to every home. Global Parliament and its Constitution were researched and developed from fundamental principles by the Global Community.

The Federation of Global Governments represents the nations of the world and is the place of meeting between Global Governments and serves all people. The very first step of the Federation, and maybe the only one for several decades ahead of us, would be the approval of essential services amongst the participating member nations. We want each Global Government to take a larger share of responsibility of the specific region where it operates and be more accountable to the people of that region.

The Global Social Economic Model (GSEM) proposed by the Global Community is truly the best response to the world.

Each day taxpayers hand over astronomical amounts of money to build weapons of mass destruction, fuel dangerous and polluting technologies, and subsidize giant corporations which concentrate the wealth and power of the world in the hands of an elite few.

GSEM makes sure that the profits of the Earth will benefit the people and all life, and secure an age of peace and fairness for all.
